BASE BALL.

Gossip about Clubs for 1879-Au Experi-

-Announcements for this Week. —Announcements for this Week.

By dint of hard hitting and almost errorless fielding, the Blues won their third game from the Bostons, at the South street park Saturday afternoon by a score of 4 to 0. The attendance was not complimentary to either club or the city, less than 300 persons being present. The Bostons lost their best man—the unfoire—and Jo Julien filled the position with satisfaction to all. Nine base hits were made by the home nine, and but one error, that by Healev giving a batter his base on balls. The game throughout was one of the best ever played on the geounds, and was a fitting close to the league season.

cere played on the geounds, and was a fitting close to the lengue season.

By agreement of the captains the experiment was made of allowing the pitcher but six unfair balls, every ball pitched to be either a ball or a strike. It worked well, none of the batters striking out and only one getting base on balls. By this arrangement things are kept moving and the game can be played in an hour and a half. The criticism is made that this is too short, but that can casily be remidied by increasing the number of innings. One game, of course, is not succeed to indee of the merits of the plan, but it seems to be a Scod one. The Bostons will farther pursue the experiment in the exhibition games at Chicago this week.

The Indianapolis club will remain at home this week and play two games with the Capital Cities.

CINCINNATI, September 16.—Three deaths from yellow fever at Gallipolis are reported since Friday. Loring Walker, Clayton Coffman and Wm. Buck. An attempt was made to land some of the steamer Porter's barges at Bladensburg, ten miles below Gallipolis, by a man who was on them when they broke loose. He was prevented from landing by a Mr. Montgomery, who fired several shots at him and who followed him down the river a distance of ten miles. The Porter followed her barges to this city, but not being ailowed to land returned a short distance up the river. AT GALLIPOLIS.

SOUTHEASTERN CONFERENCE. Still Wrestling with Dr. De La Matyr's Case.

[Special dispatch to The Indianapolis News.] [Special dispatch to The Indianapolis News.]

JEFFERSONVILLE, September 16.—The De La Matyr case came up again in the conference this morning by a strong and unanimous petition to the body from Grace church membership, asking for a reconsideration of the conference action locating De La Matyr, and protesting against said location. The memorial was referred. Bishop Harris stated that no action would be taken on the same for the reason that Dr. De 1a Matyr was absent, and as he himself had requested a location, he would have to withdraw the request before conference could act. It is now understood that the conference will make no appointment for Grace church, but leave the matter open. The elder of the church will then appoint Dr. De La Matyr. Members of Dr. De La Matyr, schurch present decare to fill their pulpit, A new presiding elder for Indianapolis district is most likely. The appointments will not be made until to-motrow.

A Heroic Act.

Indianapolis will be saddened by the news of Dr. Renner's sikness. His brave action in going to the relief of the sque-strickes people of Memphis, was worthy of all praise. The affliction which fell upon him has called forth another sacrifice of self. Mr. Charles Evans, ex-city librarian hearing of Dr. Renner's sickness, at once went to take care of him. Unacelimated, without medical knowledge or professional experience, he accounted all this as nothing, when put in the balance against a friend a life, and taking his own in his hand, went to minister unto him. There are greater heroes than those of war, higher, braver than that which leads a forlor hope or carries a line to a stranded ship, and it is this, when there is no affeguard, to repel which no effort is availing. The Work Since Saturday.—The Best Day Yet—Some Examples for Emiliation.

By the table below it will be seen that the subscriptions to the dime fund from Saturday noon until noon to-day are larger by twelve cents than those of any other day, the next largest being the collections of a week ago from Saturday until Monday. It is with much satisfaction The News announces the stendy growth of the charity and again takes occasion to thank the people for the generous outpouring. A study of the table will be instructive in giving hints to those who have not subscribed. Some sizes appear on the list which have been there before. Such repetition will soon make the names familiar to the people. Let all follow these examples. Let everybody be represented in the dimefund. Sickness and death is not ended yet. The probable demise of Dr. Renner will give the people of this city a more vivid realization of the horrors of the time. Let the good work of relief go on.

At Van Camp's fruit-packing establishment about 250 women and girls are pand checks valued at one cent on each can of fruit packed. Those women are poor, some of them several checks, and many would have given more but Mr. Van Camp very properly would not allow them. The total, amounting to $12.00, is reported in the table below. This is a noble deed. The denors have the thanks of The News for their generous action, and will have the thanks of all good citizens when it comes to be known.

This from the new German paper, the Tribune, "Although we can not always agree with The News in its opinions, we must confess that the "Dime Relief" is a good thing, a benevolent undertaking begun and successfully carried out. In genuine American fashion. The sum of $350 has been realized to date."

This second dispatch was received at 10 a, m. today. It was but a short time before the news was circulated along the principal business streets of the city, to become the general theme of conversation. Everybody indulged the hope, that though the dispatch heralded the speedy approach of certain death, the doctor's splendid physique would yet triumphi over the dread postilence, and that the brave man would be spared to us. Charlos Evans, the second hero, came in for great praise, and the deepest solicitude now prevails regarding him. Gen, Manson, in one of his speeches makes a good point. He says that "Gen, Harrison, in his speech before the republican state convention, spoke of the democratic party having nominated a ticket somewhere in the "remote past." That's a rather strange assertion for Gen. Harrison to make when the antiedeuvien character of the nominees of his own convention is considered. They have set up Abraham, Isase and Jacob, and you know none of them ever reached the promised land." The three candidates thus singled out are Isase S. Moore, secretary of state; Abram O. ## THE DAILY NEWS.

MONDAY, SEPTEMBER 16, 1878.

The Indianapolis News has the largest circulation of any daily paper in Indiana.

LET the dime fund increase till it is no

THE United States consul at Amoy, China, reports to the state department that there is not only room for a large American trade with that country, but a rich field for the reception of American inventions. For example, eight billion yards of cloth are required every year, and only one million are imported. He is convinced American goods can be sold as cheaply there as English, and yet no effort has been made in the direction of sending cotton cloths of proper texture to Amoy. He favors a change in our navigation laws that will throw the ocean open to American enterprise.

At the international congress on weights and measures in Paris, the American and English delegate- passed resolutions urging their respective governments to consider the expediency of appointing a mixed commission to consider the feasibility of adopting the metric system. The 'system has been in use on the continent of Europe since 1801, and its superiority is so thoroughly demonstrated that England and this country must sooner or later adopt it. Neither offer an objection more serious than the temporary annoyance to daily life in making the change. This will be considerable in England because of the ignorance of the masses, the arbitrary system which has prevailed in all English standards of weight and measure and of money, and the attachment and veneration for "institutions" which is the groundwork of British character. With us there is none of this. The genius here is favorable to change, we are not unfamiliar with the decimal notion on account of our mone system, and as the metric system is already used in chemistry, engineering and the higher mathamatics, it can come into everyday life with scarcely a perceptible jar, and there is little reason to doubt that a few years will find it adopted.

THE New York chamber of commerce has issued a timely appeal to the people in behalf of the yellow fever sufferers. Now that there is an indication of the beginning of the end of the suffering in the south there is a tendency to relax effort. No greater mistake could be made than this. With a grateful recognition of the efforts of our own people, The News would repeat to them the words of this New York appeal:

Great, noble and generous as are the donations sent to us, we beg to state in language as strong as it can be expressed, that they are wholly inadequate to relieve the oppressing needs of that portion of our beloved country suffering from the present scourge and plague Its abatement is not yet. When it subside or is over, we have only to excite your future sympathies by calling your attention to the fatherless and motherless children left.desolate, and the condition of thousands of men and women dependent, ready and willing to work for their daily bread, but deprived of all opportunities to do so until frost comes to remove the epidemic and revive the courses of trade and commerce.

The , whole force of that applies equally to Indianapolis. From now until the frost ends the plague, and thereafter until business can revive so as to give a liveli-hood to the thousands that are now dependent upon charity the necessity for re-lief will be as great as it has been at any lief will be as great as it has been at any time. Let no effort relax in this city. Let the people of Indianapolis be not weary in well doing but continue their efweary in well doing but continue their ef-forts until from all over the South shall come the grateful cry of "enough."

AMERICAN municipal economy has much to learn from old world experience. Taxes on property in London last year, valued at $50,000, amounted only to $125, and more than half of this was for poor rates. In many American cities it would amount to a half-dozen times that. In Indianapolis it would be $555 for city taxes alone. One reason London, as well as continental cities, come off so cheaply is, of course, that the administration is not in the hands of hungry ward politicans whose aim and object is to multiply sources of expenditure for the provision of hangers-on and the perpetuation of party. Another reason is that real estate does not bear all the burden. Markets, public conveyances, even the scavengers who clean the streets pay for their privileges. The man who owns a horse and wagon, who is the cause of extensive street repairs, and profits above all others in good road-ways does not as here pay nothing. With us men who do not drive once a year pay taxes for the benefit of those whose business it is to drive all the time, and who, in the majority of cases, don't pay a cent for anything beyond a poll tax and a license. This is cited as one example where betterment in municipal administration could be wrought. That doctrine certainly ought to meet the views of the greenbacklabor party, which clamors for an equal disposition of the burden of taxes.

CURRENT COMMENT.

This craze must doubtless run its brief course, and then the bettersense of the "respectable citizens" of Maine will assert itself. But the experience will not be without benefit if its lesson is properly heeded.—[Spring-field (Ill.) Journal, (rep.)

There were doubtless people when the flood began who said, "It's not much of a shower." Of all the republican newspapers of the country we have seen but one which has discovered the significance of this national idiocy. That is the New York Times, which from the first treated it as something to fight and not to sneer at.

Says the New York World: If our republican friends will look over the map of the United States they will look over the map of the United States they will find that greenback movements have lost Indiana to the republicans, Maine to the republicans, Pennsylvania to the republicans, Ohio to the republicans, and part of Vermont to the republicans.

All very well; but in those states wherein does democracy differ from nationalism in its doctrine, and to whom has advantage accrued? and does the New York World expect to support that kind of democracy?

Shreveport, La., has contributed $4,000 in money and thirty-five nurses for the yellow fever sufferers. Size and wealth considered, Shreveport has done more than any city.

The Chicago Times wants to know, what Mr. Gail Hamilton is going to do about it? Write a letter to the Tribune, probably, showing that it is all due to Mr. Hayes' wretched attempts at civil service reform.

"The callow youths of the Springeld Republican" is the style in which the Boston Journal alludes to them. Which suggests the reflection that if the B. J. would import some of the callow youths it would learn something to its advantage.

DE LA MATYR'S LOCATION.

How It Was Brought About in the Southeastern Conference.

A Full Account of the Debate and Its Different Phases.

[From the Jeffersonville News.] Rev. De La Matyr said that for the first time in twenty nine years he had been attending conference his character had not passed. He had accepted the nomination conscientiously, with a clear sense of the divine approval. He had the unanimous request of his quarterly conference to he request of his quarterly conference to be re-turned to his present charge, and was ready to do his work faithfully for the next year, whether elected or not. If the conference desire it, I shall most assuredly leave the pul-pit. I never but once stayed an hour where I was not wanted. I feel clear before God that I have disgraced nobody; I don't believe I shall; I don't mean to.

Rev. Hester said there was nothing against Rev. De La Matyr's moral or ministerial character. He did not believe a man could fulfill the vows of itineracy and follow any secular work. I know he declares his conscience truly. If he feels this is his work for the present, he can go into it, and the way will be opened for his return. Dr. De La Matyr should ask for a location, and if he is elected let him go and take his place as a Christian congressman. Conference can not afford to set this precedent. While we are in the itin-erant work, let us not be embarassed by secular work. I am ready to vote for the passage of his ministerial and moral character. Bishep Harris—I' do not hear any excep-tion to his character, so Dr. De La Matyr's character passes. Now the question is before conference in regard to the other matter.

Dr. Holliday suggested that Dr. De La Matyr gather the sense of the conference pri-vately and then act accordingly, without bringing the matter to a vote.

Rev. Hester said if it was agreeable to Dr.

Rev. Hester said if it was agreeable to Dr. De La Matyr, he would move that he located. Rev. David Stiver said Dr. De La Matyr reported himself ready to do effective work. This looked like prejudging the case. I do not understand this body to say a man shall not run for congress. If he does not do his duty that will be for consideration next conference year.

Rev. Tevis-I want to represent us nation als and democrats.

Bishop—I am sorry you said anything of that kind. You ought not to use any politiwould be better for Dr. De La Matyr to have no charge.

Dr. De La Matyr—This is rather a delicate position to be in. I have a conscience in this matter of leaving the work in conference. I did not expect to be elected when I wrote my letter of acceptance. I did it from a sense of duty. I made a greater sacrifice than when I left my congregation in west New York and went into the army. I never yielded to a sense of duty mere fully than when I accepted. I believe I have some influence to get the suffering masses into the proper channel. My heart has been crushed by the attacks made on my character. No, to deliberately leave conference to advance my political interests I could never do that. my political interests 1 could never do ve done nothing that ought to make a friend of mine blush, or throw a single shade over my conscience. I would rather die a thousand times than do that. If my breth-ren judge I would be a disadvantage to them, I will locate, but I want them to understand if I am elected I won't lose my conscience. I have not descended to the muddy pool of politics. I despise and loathe them and won't touch them. I expect to preach every subbath whether located or not. I can find plenty of ministerial work to do and get more than twice over what I get at Grace

Rev. Snyder did not feel like voting for the brother's motion to ask Dr. De La Matyr Dr. De La Matyr—If I am elected and find I can not do effective work, I shall ask my relations to be changed.

Bishop Harris—There is a question back of all that. When a man is elected his salary commences the next March following. Can you meet your vows as a minister, giving yourself wholly to God while you are follow-ng a secular calling.

Rev. Snyder offered the following resolution:

"Resolved, That we sincerely regret that our esteemed and talented brother and co-laborer, the Rev. De La Matyr, sho ald have accepted a nomination for political office; and while we cast no reflection upon the purity of our brother's motives or intentions, we nevertheless regret this act as involving a dangerous precedent to the litineracy of the Methodist church, and a violation of the vow of a Methodist church, and a violation of the vow of a Methodist pastor to devote his whole time to the work of the ministry, believing it to be a serious impediment to his usefulness as a minister, and without the excuse of a great moral issue presented by his party.

"We hereby affectionately request our brother to withdraw from the political areas and return to the single work of a Methodist pastor.

"W. W. SNYDER,

"BRV. MELLERDER,

REV. COTTON.

The resolution seemed to pierce Dr. De La Matyr like a barbed arrow, and he arose and said with much feeling: "I request a location without the charge of having violated my vow. This amounts to this conference passing my character and subsequently saying have violated my vow."

Rev. Hester suggested that that part refering to the vows be crased.
Rev. Curtiss—I do not admire these resolutions. It would be better for Dr. De La-Matyr simply to ask a location. I don't want this to go on the record, and want to see it blotted out.

A voice—I move to lay it on the table.
Curtiss—No, that will make it of record.
Rev. Lathrop—Let it be withdrawn.
Voice—Yes, let it be withdrawn.

The resolutions were then withdrawn Rev. Andrus said he and his friends would be afflicted if such a good and true man was severed from this body. He hoped some ac-tion would be taken that would not look to the withdrawal of Dr. De La Matyr; that might at least have partial work if he did not have responsible work.

Rev. Harrison moved that Dr. De La Matyr Rev. Tincher was in favor of leaving the natter to Dr. De La Matyr, and thought best to defer action until to-morrow morn-

Dr. De La Matyr-I prefer to have the natter settled now, and I ask for a location. Dr. Holliday moved to grant the request. Rev. Wells said before that was put wanted it understood there were many in the

Rev. Lathrop felt that this request from Dr. De La Matyr for a location was under ressure and not out of the depths of his eart, and conference would do him justice not to grant such a request. I am satisfied it would be best for the church.

would be best for the church.

Rev. Chaffee—This is not a question personal to Dr. De La Matyr. This conference must have its standard rules. It is a question of precedence, and the very prominence and ability of Dr. De La Matyr will make that precedent so much more significant. We have nothing to do with Dr. De La Matyr's political views. I dou't question for a moment the sincerity of his convictions. But a man can do only one thing at a time, and that is especially true in connection with the osition of an itinerant Methodist preacher. Rev. Dr. Holliday said they were shut up between difficulties somewhat difficult to handle. If the impression goes abroad that the doctor is forced to the wall, it excites a personal symmathy to the prejudice of this conference. On the other hand, a Methodist minister and all his time and influence be-longs to the church. If a member of this conference were to turn his attention to bank-ing, would the bishop give him an appoint-ment because it did not take his time on Sun-day? I do not think we are living up to our chief and all his time and influence be-longs to the sum of the ministerial vows if we give our time during the week to secular work. The church demands our time every day in the week as well as Sunday. The delicate point is in the precedent. If we allow a man to be a candidate for congress and a minister at the same time, then he may engage in any other business. The great want of the church is entire consecration to God's work by the ministers and the membership. This is not the time for us to be lay. To establish such the time for us to be lax. To establish such a precedent will lower the standard of the ministerial obligation. At this point Dr. De La Matyr arose and said that he would now withdraw from the conference until after the question was set-

Mr. Falkenberg objected, but the bishop said it would be proper and parliamentary.
Dr. Andrus said he felt Dr. De La Matyr had made a great mistake. I think he has not a single friend who would not say so to him. We all would have desired his work. exclusively to the ministry. Damages are bound to result to the conference and Dr. De La Matyr. He thought it best to pass his char-La Matyr. Hethought it best to pass his character and do nothing. Public impression will go out, which is sure to damage the conference. Dr. Cartwright was nominated to Congress in opposition to Abraham Lincoln, and went on and made the cavass without any action being taken. Jesse Moore, of the Illinois conference, ran for congress and was elected, and nothing was said about it. I would move that the whole matter be laid on the table. The bishop said that in the case of Dr. Moore the conference took the matter out of the hands of the bishop by making him a supernumerary. The conference must decide the matter and not throw the responsibility upon the bishop.

Dr. Andrus said if the conference passed Dr. De La Matyr's character that would relieve the bishop, and Dr. De La Matyr would be responsible for the faithful performance of his work. of his work.

The governor reached into a capacious pocket and produced the trophy. It was the fourth part of a Spanish milled dollar. That's the sort of currency we had in Knox county in an early day said the governor. "Why he continued ruminating," it's more than fifty years since I've seen one of these pieces. When change was scarce we would take an ax and chop a Spanish dollar into four parts making four two bit pieces, those cut again would make ninepence pieces 12½ cents each. Ninepence pieces cut this way we used to call 'sharp shins.' Now and then we would find that some-scound-rel had cut a dollar into nine sharp shins instead of eight." The governor then ex-amined the cut sides of the piece and made the discovery that the job wasn't well done—had been cut with a dull ax. The fragment of coin bore the figures 7-2-6 and the piece was evidently coined in

M. C. Garber, jr., editor of the Madison Courier, spent Sunday here.

The police pay roll for the last half month mounts to $1,782.91

The residence of George W. Lowe, No 321 North Pennsylvania street, was entered by thieves about 0 c'clock last night and several articles of silver-ware and a quantity of clothing were taken.

Word has been received in this city from Bridge-port, Connecticut, that Mr. George Morris, son of Sheldon Morris, is failing rapidly; his death is ex-pected at any hour. The disease is consumption.

The initial number of the Asbury Monthly, published by the university, has this personal; "A. B. Yohn, class of '69, has been elected librarian of the city of Indianapolis. An excellent choice, for Mr. Yohn has no superior in bibliography, considering his age and experience."

The question of reducing expenditures on ac-count of fire protection will probably come up in in council to-night. It is said that body dare not interfere with the fire department, until after elec-tion at least, and that the water works company will have to stand the strain.

The earnest desire of the democracy for civil service reform is manifested by their appointment of one state officer to conduct the campaign, and utilizing the rest of them on the stump. The complete divorce of office-holders from politics, under democratic rule, would scarcely be visible.

The 1 p. m. train on the Panhandle will not arrive untif 5 p. m. to-day, being delayed four hours. Immense quanties of mail caused by the break of connections through the recent storms in Ohio and Pennsylvania, are now coming here causing the transfer men at the depot a large amount of extra work.

Capital City Council No. 6, jr. C. U. A. M., will be instituted Monday evening, September 29, in-stead of to-night, on account of the non-arrival of the charter. The council will be instituted by Deputy State Councilor Jas. M. Baker, assisted by Jieputy National Councilor Morris W. Phillip, and ast Councilor John B. Reitz and others.

SUICIDE OF THOMAS H. BOWLES. Driven to Desperation by Ill Health, He

Seeks Relief in Death. Shortly after 9 o'clock this morning a veral gentlemen sitting in the front part of Johnston Bros. store, 62 East Washington street, neard the fall of a heavy body overhead, but paid no attention to it until a few minutes liter, when Rev, Wm. Armstrong came down stairs and teld them that Thomas H. Bowles, the well-mown lawyer, whose office was in the second story of the building, had and killed himself. Messrs-Bennett and Benjamin T. Wait George ran up to the room and found that it was only too true. The body lay in front of his desk, between it and the window, and from the position it occupied he must have been sitting on the floor when the fatal shot was fired. He lay on his back, the left hand inserted in the breast of his coat, and the pied he must have been sitting on the floor when the fatal shot was fired. He lay on his back, the left hand inserted in the breast of his coat, and the right one grasping the weapon with which life had been taken. It was a Sharpe four-barreled revolver with one chamber empty. Mr. Bowles had held the revolver close to the right temple and fired, the ball penetrating entirely through the brain, finding an exit from the upper left side of the skull. Death must have been instantaneous. The body was taken to Kreglo's undertaking establishment and thence to the residence of the deceased, on North Meridian street, near St. Joseph street. The coroner impannelled a jury this morning, who heard the evidence of Mr Wait, and then adjourned until this afternoon. No cause, other than mental despondency caused by continued ill health, can be assigned for this sad tragedy About at year ago Mr. Bowles had several surgical operations performed, followed by a severe attack of crysipelas. Since recovering from that he has not been the same man as before, and of late his family have feared that he was suffering from softening of the brain. Within the past two weeks he has been treated by Dr. Runnels for insomnia, that being all he conplained of to the physician. Saturday and yesterday he felt better than he had for some time and spent a very cheerful pleasant Sunday at home with his family. Last night he did not sleep; but this morning left home in the usual manner. To Mr. Armstrong after arriving at the office he betrayed no symptoms of an unsound frame of mind. Mr. Armstrong left the office for a few moments and on his return found the door locked. Thinking that Mr. Bowles had stepped out on business he unlocked the door and on opening it his eyes met the spectacle of the deed body.

Mr. Bowles was 46 years of age, a native of Maryland. He came to Indianapolis in 1854, from Nollesville, where he had originally located with a brother sometime before. For two years he was bookkeeper for the firm of Conner, Burton & Worman, and the

About four years ago Dr. Bowles, of Millersville, a brother of the deceased, committed suicide by faking an overdose of morphine.

MEN'S FASHIONS.

MEN'S FASHIONS.

EGAN & TREAT'S OPENING.

Messrs. Egan & Treat's semi-annual opening, the 14th, in consecutive order, is here again as regular as the clock, and about as much of a necessity to keep the reckoning in the domain of gent's fashions as the dial serves in its place. Yes, there is such a thing as gentlemen's fashions. Newspapers have a fashion of sharpening the pen of wit and ridicule on the theme of women's fashions and folibles, but when it comes to owning up the exact truth the rules and regulations of the fashion plates hold as complete sway in men's dress throughout all pointe society. Mind you'd the term its polite society. It will not hold good in frontier or savage life, but precisely as you march up the road of progress to a high civilization you will find it marked by the greater attention paid to neatness and fit in gentlemen's dress no less than that of ladies. Take the most advanced grades of society in the west, or down east, if you please, and there you will find the skillful tailor made the most of. He is a fair thermometer of education and culture. It is in this view of the case that such a house as that of Messrs. Egan & Treat, ranking as it does with the first establishments east, becomes a compliment to the city and thrifty towns around which support it, as well as a testimony to the enterprise of the proprietors. It has come to be understood that it pays to dress well—to dress in the fashion—and out of the best goods. "Slop shop" is not economy. That is cheapest which will wear the longest, give the best appearance and address, and in which you will feel the best. Many a business man has ignorantly lost an advantage by reason of his shabby attire, which he were through a mistaken notion of economy.

No time need be lost in description of the rare taste displayed in dressing the establishment, No. I Bates Biock, for the opening to-day. The fullness and profusion of goods from which he elite of our city is to be clad the ensuing fall and winter will strike all observers. Is it possi EGAN & TREAT'S OPENING.

the benefit of those too far away to see for themrelyest;

PANCY UNDER COATS.

A tendency is noticeable to the introduction of plainer goods, and with it we come back more to the walking coat and nock. The three and four button single breasted, cut away straight from the low or button, has been and will still be the particularly nobby coat for the winter—bordering on the swell—they look so well under an overcoat, but a large class of more conservative men do not wear
it. The single-breasted one-button cut away or walking cost and the business sack are everybody's style, though some take the walking coat a trifle plainer by futting the front corners square—that is, less cut away.

THE FROCK AND DRESS COATS
remain almost without change—cut both double and ingle breasted, though comparatively few of the latter style. A great many frock suits will be ent from the colored gray mixtures.

VESTS

are mainly in three styles—single breast with collar, same witbout collar and the dress vest. They are cut to show a horder above the coat and to close very high up in front.

PANTALOONS

Are all ruled under one style for this season—no fancy, no extreme. There is no effort at style from waistband to knee, only to fit the form, with size for an average man, 37 hip, 20 knee and 19 bottom. They are a trifle shaped at the awkle to make them fall in shape, but the prevailing tendency is to drop them perfectly straight to the bottom which is large enough to make them fall straight and plain.

plain.

Messrs. E, & T. show a number of samples made Messrs. E, & T. show a number of samples made up in the different styles, which are much admired, being constantly surrounded with a throng of careful inspectors. At the hour when the attache of The News made his call the opening gave promise of being by far the most popular the house has yet held. The generous anxiety of the proprietors to show the publicall the styles; without tear that less prominent houses will profit by it, is evidently meeting its reward, and serves at the same time to show the fast hold the house has upon the trade. Upon taking leave of the display, Mr. Tom. P. Egan, the able superintendent of the cutting department shook a warning finger with the remark that nothing was to be said of him, but The News never covers up facts, one of which is, as the proprietors frankly admit and the public well knows, that this same Tom Egan is largely to blame for the high rank this house now holds for its fidelity to style and artistic skill in fitting the human form divine.
